Over the three years period, a slight decrease occurred in the overall number of schools provided grants in which 411 schools observed for 2018 reaching 409 schools in 2020. One provincial level for the total number of schools provided grants, Penama, recorded a decrease of three schools and the rest of provinces were nearly static. Sanma observed the highest number of schools receiving grants within the three years period on average of 87 schools and Torba as the least province was provided with grants 23 schools per year. The share calculation was done in two different ways, one based on the total number of schools provided grant and second way based on the total number of schools per each year. There were figures of over 100% which means there's error in data and based on the analyses the grant file didn't correspond to the schools lists.
